

READY OR NOT: HERE I COME!

Ready or not: Here I come!

Picture this: children laughing and playing hide and seek in a vibrant backyard. The seeker closes their eyes, counts down with excitement, "1... 2... 3... ready or not, here I come!" Amidst the innocent fun, there's an important lesson that echoes through the ages - a reflection of Jesus' words about His second coming.

In our present times, it seems like many people are caught up in the hustle and bustle of life, seemingly unprepared for the imminent return of Jesus. It's crucial for the church to wake up and take to heart the truths laid out in the Bible. Jesus urges, "Let the person who has ears listen to what the Spirit says to the churches" (Rev 3:22).

The scriptures foretell that the Lord's return will be when humanity least expects it (Matt 24:44). Jesus illustrates this by saying, "if the good man of the house had known in what watch the thief would come, he would have watched, and would not have suffered his house to be broken up" (Matt 24:43).

It's essential to understand that our level of preparedness does not determine His coming. Jesus will return to rapture the saints whether we are ready or not. This is the moment when the church needs to be most focused on Jesus' return in all of history. The prophetic signs of His return, as stated in the scriptures, are rapidly unfolding (Matt 24).

The gospel is being proclaimed far and wide, thanks to various forms of media, indicating that the end of all things is drawing near. The opportunity to be ready is now; tomorrow may not be guaranteed, and moments we postpone readiness may never come.

Living in the light of God's truth is the surest way to be prepared (1 Thess 5:2-5). While God promises long life to His children, we must recognize that unexpected deaths do occur. However, the worst thing that can happen to a person is to depart this world without knowing Christ.

So, I ask you directly, will you be ready to meet Christ at any given moment? Will you choose to walk in the light of His words and follow His ways, prioritizing them over the ways of man? Will you be prepared to serve Him wholeheartedly, rejecting lies and every appearance of evil? The choice is yours.

The scriptures make it clear that each person's actions will speak for themselves. Those who continue in unrighteousness will remain unrighteous, and those in filth will remain in filth. On the other hand, the righteous will continue in righteousness, and the holy will remain holy. Jesus declares, "Behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to render to each man according as his work is" (Rev 22:11-12 ASV).

May the Lord grant you the grace and willpower to make the right decision and be ready for His return.
Amen
