The art of translation

Every kingdom possesses its unique essence, from culture to beliefs, and purpose. As citizens of any realm, we are exposed to various factors, both favorable and adverse. Our citizenship determines our rights and entitlements. For instance, an African without an American visa cannot fully enjoy the benefits of America's economy and security, even if they visit the United States.

Becoming a citizen of any place is not achieved by mere desire or a fleeting visit. It requires a deliberate and structured process, true for both the physical and spiritual dimensions. The spiritual realm operates according to two kingdoms—the kingdom of light (God's domain) and the kingdom of darkness (the devil's domain). These two powerful realms govern the affairs of our world and significantly influence our destinies.

The kingdom of darkness thrives on negativity, fostering hatred, strife, setbacks, and even death, as revealed in John 2:11. Conversely, the kingdom of light shines with love, peace, progress, righteousness, and every good work, as emphasized in Ephesians 5:8-9. To live a successful and fulfilling life in this world, the wisest choice is to align ourselves with the kingdom of light.

In the scriptures, it is crystal clear that those who do not embrace righteousness are aligned with the devil (1 John 3:10). The children of light, however, are those who have turned away from a life of sin and embraced God's unconditional love. Operating under the kingdom of light grants us access to God's life, a life that transcends time and extends into eternity—a life filled with joy, progress, tranquility, and peace. Making the decision to change our citizenship to the kingdom of light unlocks the key to this blissful existence.

Believing in the Son of God, Jesus Christ, leads to receiving the life of God (1 John 5:12). Remaining in the kingdom of darkness subjects one to a life of suffering, agony, and all kinds of evil. Surprisingly, many who attend church regularly might unknowingly dwell in the kingdom of darkness. The devil craftily inflicts pain on those under his dominion, while God lavishly blesses those in His kingdom. It is essential to make a life-changing decision for Jesus today and embrace His blessings throughout our earthly journey and beyond. Today is the day of salvation; let us not procrastinate, for tomorrow may be too late.

The art of translation involves repositioning ourselves according to God's divine plan. God sent His Son, Jesus Christ, to die for us, liberating us from the clutches of the devil (John 3:16). We have the privilege of accessing a visa that guarantees our place in heaven, securing our salvation through the precious blood of Jesus, given to us by grace. This powerful act translates us from the kingdom of darkness into the glorious kingdom of light (Colossians 1:13).

Now is the opportune moment for salvation; Jesus eagerly awaits our decision. If you are prepared to receive Jesus as your Lord and Savior, pray this heartfelt prayer:

"Lord Jesus, I thank You for loving me, even when I was a sinner, and for laying down Your life to save me. I acknowledge that I have been living under the dominion of the devil. Today, I wholeheartedly accept You as my Lord and personal Savior. Come into my life and translate me into Your kingdom of light. In Jesus Christ's name, I pray. Amen."

Congratulations, you are now perfectly translated into the kingdom of life. To fortify your new citizenship, seek out a Bible-believing church and join in fellowship with God's children.

May God Bless You as you embark on this inspiring journey, walking in divine favor, and embracing the abundant blessings of His kingdom of light.
